V. Other Gifts

In the Fall of 1993 two Washington, D.C. city clubs, The University Club and The City Tavern Club, extended honorary memberships to me. In the Spring of 1996, the Lotos Club of New York City awarded me an honorary membership. An honorary member is not required to pay either dues or an initiation fee. None of these Clubs has been or is likely to be a litigant in the Court and membership was not invited to exploit my position as a Justice.

Advisory Opinion No. 47 (1975) of the Judicial Conference Advisory Committee, addressing complimentary memberships, concludes that (1) receipt of a complimentary membership is permitted under Canon 5C, and (2) the value of the membership, if in excess of $100, should be reported on the financial disclosure form as a permitted gift.

The University Club's 1993 initiation fee for a resident member 35 years of age or older was $4,000, and in 2006 monthly dues charged resident members 35 years of age or older were $165.

The City Tavern Club's 1993 initiation fee for a resident member was $625, and in 2006 monthly dues charged resident members were $180.

The Lotos Club's 1996 initiation fee for a nonresident member was $2,000, and in 2006 annual dues charged nonresident members was $1,250.

I designated the following:

$7,500 honorarium from the University of Toledo College of Law, March 12-14, 2006, designated to Washington National Opera ($1,500), Signature Theatre ($1,000), Arena Stage ($1,000), Supreme Court Historical Society ($1,000), Washington Performing Arts Society ($1,000), Georgetown Women's Law and Public Policy Fellowship Program ($1,000), and International Association of Women Judges ($1,000).

$4,000 honorarium from the University of Nebraska College of Law, April 6, 2006, $1,000 each designated to Beginning with Children Foundation, Inc., Glimmerglass Opera, Santa Fe Opera, and Washington Concert Opera.

$5,000 honorarium from the University of Arizona College of Law, September 12, 2006, divided between Summer Opera Theatre Company and Signature Theatre.

$250 contribution from the Memphis Bar Association, September 10, 2006, to the Women's Law and Public Policy Fellowship Program.

All of the payments listed above were made to charities in my name in lieu of compensation for lectures sponsored by the listed law schools. All of the charities are qualified recipients under § 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Each of the law schools is an accredited educational institution and the lectures, delivered to overflow audiences including most of the schools' students, were part of the schools' educational offerings.
